BEFORE YOU GET STARTED

EarningsBeats (EB) is a research, guidance, and education platform. Our research efforts are centered around providing our members valuable and reliable information to not only improve their trading knowledge, but to also improve their trading results. Our max pain work is one example of where we try to use market inefficiencies and manipulative market maker behavior to the benefit of all of our EB members. It is not perfect, and certainly shouldn't be viewed as a guaranteed future outcome. We use all of this max pain information as another "indicator," a directional clue, if you will.

We know that market makers take opposite positions when retail traders buy and sell options. We also believe that market makers will buy and sell underlying stock to help mitigate the risk of the options positions taken. When monthly options expire, it provides a very unique opportunity for market makers to use their own capital to "temporarily" move prices in one direction or the other to inflict short-term pain on the most options holders as possible. It's this short-term market inefficiency that we want our members to be aware of.

We are not Registered Investment Advisors and are not suggesting that you buy or sell any financial security based off the information and research that we provide. You should always consult your own financial advisor before buying or selling any financial security. Also, all of our data comes from the CBOE. We cannot accept responsibility for the accuracy of such data.

We are providing the Friday, March 13th closing prices for every stock in the Dow Jones, NASDAQ 100, and our stock portfolios at EarningsBeats, along with the "max pain" price. Max pain refers to the point at which market makers would pay out the LEAST amount of in-the-money call or put premium. In other words, market makers have financial incentive to move stock prices toward max pain in the very near-term. This manipulation does not occur every month and the directional clues provided should not be viewed as a guaranteed outcome. Market makers can protect themselves from loss by simply buying or selling underlying stock. But it's their potential thirst for higher profits that makes our max pain analysis well worth the monthly effort.
